

Jacques Blockx continues the paint-making traditions of his great-grandfather, who began manufacturing artists' colours in 1865. The exceptional transparency of these watercolours is made possible by the use of pure pigments, free of filler material, carefully combined with proportional additions of pure honey and high quality gum Arabic. According to the raw materials available, Blockx watercolours afford the highest degrees of permanence and optimum working qualities.

First Digit specifies the Series No. i.e. 341 Mars Brown is Series 3

These watercolours are available in regular pan and half pan and also giant porcelain pans, measuring 3"x 2¼". Each format is made to the same high quality formula from Blockx in 48 colours.

The pans can be re-filled from the white cap formula tubed watercolour.
