

This range of watercolours has been expanded and developed to become, in our view, the best you will find. They are a range of watercolours with a perfect balance between tradition and the demands of modern painters. They contain most of the 'must-have' pigments now available, like the trans oxides and perform with the dynamic and reliability always associated with Jacques Blockxs' paints.

Jacques Blockx continues the paint-making traditions of his great-grandfather, who began manufacturing artists' colours in 1865. The exceptional transparency of these watercolours is made possible by the use of pure pigments, free of filler material, carefully combined with proportional additions of pure honey and high quality gum Arabic. According to the raw materials available, Blockx watercolours afford the highest degrees of permanence and optimum working qualities.

These watercolours are available in regular pan and half pan and also giant porcelain pans, measuring 3"x 2¼". Each format is made to the same high quality formula from Blockx now in 72 colours.
